NUMBER 43

Funeral Services For J. Ammon Anderson

Funeral services over the remains of James Ammon Anderson, whose passing was reported last week, were held in the 2nd Ward Chapel last Friday at 2 p.m. with Bishop L. L. Palmer in charge. Jos. McLean conducted the Choir with Mrs. Emma Dahl at the organ, and members of both ward choirs assisting in the singing.

The hall was filled with friends and relatives who gathered to show their respect to the deceased and his family. The floral offerings were profuse and included flowers from the rooms in which the children attended school, the Quorum of which deceased was a member and friends and relatives. Pallbearers were Parley Meldrum, Clifford Dahl, Fred Romeril, Aziel Stevenson, Wm. Jensen and S. I. May, and were all members of the Seventy's Quorum.

The first hymn was "I Know My Heavenly Father Knows" an prayer was offered by Pres. T. Geo. Wood, followed by a duet "The Lord is My Shepherd" by Mesdames E. E. Reithman and E. L. Paxman.

J. W. Evans, former bishop of the ward spoke of recent deaths in the Anderson family, and said deceased was a man who tried always to fill his place in the community. He was a good father, a loving husband and was faithful and dependable in everything entrusted to him. He spoke of boyhood illness of deceased when he was stricken with St. Vitus Dance and how he was healed by the power of Priesthood. He felt that so far as Ammon was concerned, death was a blessing, as he had been in ill health for a long time, and he hoped that the widow and children would be blessed abundantly in their future years.

Mesdames L. D. King and S.W. Salmon sang a vocal duet "For You and Me."

Elder Z. W. Jacobs of Cardston who was a close friend of the family spoke next and encouraged the widow and children to faithfulness and courage in the future. He read the poem "I follow a Noble Father" and hoped the children would cherish the memory of their departed father. He spoke of Temple ordinances and the eternity of the Marriage Covenant and encouraged the family in this hope stating that mortality was only a brief span and they would soon be reunited with their husband and father.

Frank Taylor and Co. sang "Sleep, Dearest Sleep."

Elder Melvin T. King spoke next and mentioned his meeting the family of Mrs. Anderson in Grimsby, England while laboring as a missionary in England, and said that the three girls, Beatrice, Grace and Dorothy had left their native land as young ladies and came to Raymond. He wondered if they had ever regretted their action, taken because of their faith in the Gospel. The mother of the family was dead, but the father was still alive, and while he had always treated the Elders well enough he had never been able to see the light, and the father had always felt that the Gospel would break up his family, which had been the case in the girls migrating to Canada. He spoke of the ravages of war in the home town of the girls and was sure they felt glad that they were here in a free land, far removed from the horrors of war.

The widow was going thru a trying experience today, and

FARMER'S DAY NEXT MONDAY

Next Monday is Farmer's Day at Rotary, and the committee in charge are desirous that every Rotarian be present and that he bring a real dirt farmer as his guest to the meeting.

Wallace Hanson, District Agriculturist for the district will be the speaker and he has a message of importance and value to every farmer. Be on time at 2:15 sharp so that the speaker will have the benefit of all the time possible, and don't forget to bring a guest with you. We're planning on an attendance of at least 40.

RATION BOOK WEEK FIXED

Ration book No. 4 will be distributed between March 26 and April 1, the Prices Board at Ottawa announced today. Designating the period as "ration book week," officials said that distribution days will vary in different localities. Announcement of distribution centres, and the days and times these will be open, will be made locally.

Anyone who does not obtain a No. 4 book during the days on which the distribution centre is open in the locality will have to wait until April 17 to obtain a new book, the board said.

NEWS NOTES

Mark Heninger of the R.C.A.F. and stationed in Macleod spent the week-end at home.

Roi Stone returned from the Hospital the middle of the week and is getting around a little now.

Calvin Hancock was brought home from Hospital Monday afternoon and is convalescing rapidly.

The Chinook started working Wednesday forenoon and all day Wednesday and Thursday the weather was warm and the snow was all melted.

Have you made your contribution to the Red Cross yet? It shouldn't be a question of how much ought to be paid, how much can we afford to pay should be the deciding factor. The need for Red Cross work grows greater each day.

he hoped that the Lord would soften the pain and that we would all do our part in aiding to make the path easier for them all. He hoped the children would grow up to be fine men and women in Zion as their father would have had them do had he lived.

Jos. McLean sang "A perfect Day."

Bishop L. L. Palmer on behalf of the family thanked all for their thoughtful consideration and assistance during the illness and death of the father and husband. He paid tribute to his life of example and devotion in the Church and his life as the father of a family.

The choir sang "The Lord is My Light" and the benediction was pronounced by Wm. Stone. A large cortege followed the remains to the cemetery where interment was made, the grave being dedicated by Elder John F. Anderson of Cardston, uncle of the deceased.

Revision of National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor, today tabled in the House of Commons Order in Council P.C. 1355 of March 4th, 1944, revising and consolidating the National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations.

The last previous consolidation of the Regulations was made by P.C. 10924 of December 1, 1942, at the time that the military call-up was transferred from the Department of National War Services to the Department of Labor.

In addition to including amendments made to the Regulations from time to time since December 1, 1942, previously announced, the present revision makes some changes, both in policy and procedure.

In future a married man, not supporting or maintaining his wife or children, who was not previously liable to call, now becomes liable if within the age groups in which single men only have been subject to call up to the present—that is, if born in any of the years from 1906 to 1912 inclusive, providing that a man has not reached the age of 38 years.

Up to this time a man found medically unfit, but who after remedial treatment would probably be medically fit for service, was offered treatment on his promise to join the Forces after being treated. Now a man must agree to join up first before being given remedial medical treatment.

No special provision existed in the older Regulations to deal with the cases of certain men either in remote areas, or where medical examination is not feasible. Authority is now given to grant postponement without medical examination to seamen serving in the Merchant Marine. Also, Indians and others living in remote areas may now be postponed, if reasons exist, without first undergoing medical examination. Conscientious objectors may be dealt with in future, without first being medically examined.

A provision that postponement of military training may now be given until further notice, will assist essential industries and reduce the work of the Mobilization Boards. Previously, only coal miners and farm workers could secure unlimited postponement, with the result that Boards periodically had to review all other postponements, even though it could be foreseen that the circumstances would warrant an indefinite postponement.

The new Regulations, for the first time, give the military authorities power to hold a man who has been convicted in court of failure to report for military training under the regulations. Such a man may now be held either in police or military custody. Previously, the man had to be served with a formal notice in addition to being convicted in court, and a court order that he report for military service, after his civil trial, or even after a prison term, did not have automatic effect; this situation is now reversed.

New Subsidy On Milk And Milk Products Explained

Several important changes in April 30, when it will drop to 20¢ cwt., and will continue at that rate from then on. Last summer there was no subsidy.

Concentrated Milk—With respect to the 30¢ subsidy on concentrated whole milk the Canadian Federation of Agriculture had asked a continuance of this, but this subsidy will run only until April 30, when it will drop to 15¢ until Sept. 30, rising again on that date to 30¢. Last summer there was no subsidy. The Federation had asked that this subsidy apply to concentrated milk, skim milk and cream, but it is confined to whole milk only.

Better Ration—Co-incidental with the new policy the Prices Board announced a temporary reduction in the present butter ration. This is being brought about in March, by postponing validity dates for Coupons 54 & 55, which were scheduled to come due March 16 and which will now be postponed until March 23 and 30 respectively. One butter coupon per week will come due, instead of 2 coupons every 2 weeks. The reduction in March will be 8 oz. per person.

Cover Rising Cost—Discussing the new subsidy policy, H. H. Hannam, president and managing director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture said: "It is of course disappointing to us that the government did not see fit to adopt all our recommendations, but we are appreciative of what improvement has been made. The government has apparently recognized that the situation was such that only by maintaining the higher subsidy could dairy farmers be expected to meet rising costs of production and maintain the necessary production level. — Market Examiner.

Union Jacks Win In Second Overtime

W. I. MEETING

The W. I. Meeting was held March 9th at the home of Mrs. Litchfield with 20 members present. Meeting opened by singing 'O'CANADA', the Flag Salute led by Doris Hall and the creed by Clara Rolfson.

A letter was read from a soldier in England who received a pair of socks made by Mrs. Webster.

The delegates to the W. I. Conference to be held in Lethbridge on March 22 and 23 are to be chosen by the President. Ten dollars was donated to the Red Cross.

The first lesson of Extension Course was given by Mrs. Litchfield and Marie Matkin and Helen Sabey sang two songs 'Come Back to Erin' & 'Spring'. A short story 'The Blue Envelope' was read by June Allred. Our National Anthem was the closing song. The name of an article to be donated to ditty bags was drawn by the members. A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses. Mesdames Litchfield and Shaw.

An Easter Leap Year Dance is to be sponsored on April 8th at the Opera House and we would appreciate a good attendance.

TOWN COUNCIL COMMITTEE

At the recent Town Council meeting the Committee for 1944 were appointed as follows, with the first named in each case as Chairman:

FINANCE: L.R. Pack, M.T. King, Harold Fairbanks.

WORKS & PROPERTY: J.H. L. MacPhee, Wm. Jensen, Jos. McLean.

LICENSE and POLICE: Jos. McLean, H. Fairbanks, Wm. Jensen.

HEALTH and RELIEF: H. Fairbanks, L. R. Pack and M. T. King.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schneider were pleasantly surprised at their home last Friday evening on the occasion of their 29th wedding anniversary and were the recipients of a number of lovely gifts. Twenty-six people from Raymond gathered at their home, bringing lunch with them, and the evening was spent in singing, games and visiting.

Clyde Spencer of Magrath was a Raymond visitor on Monday of this week.

The Mt. View School in the Cardston district won the War Savings Stamp drive for that area when they made 593 per cent. of their quota. Congratulations Mt. View.

Stop signs have been placed on the east and west side of Broadway at the Brewerton corner. Motorists had better observe these coming in off the side streets if they want to avoid trouble with the Police department. Let's all co-operate.

In a fast and furious game featured by close checking, some nice sniping, and two five minute overtime periods, the Union Jacks managed to nose out the Magrath Lions Basketeers with a slim 3 point margin last Friday night in the Opera House.

From the start it was a see-saw affair all through. Raymond notched the first field basket to be followed immediately by Magrath, and so the game went. While the Jacks were ahead most of the way it was by a very little margin, and when full time came the score was 34-34. At the end of the first overtime, it was 39-39. In the 2nd overtime spasm Raymond garnered six points to hold the Magrath boys to 3, to end the 50 minutes of play with a score of 45-42.

When the play ended the boys were absolutely "done in". The captains of the two teams sat on the floor and shook hands when the final whistle blew, glad of the chance to relax after 50 minutes of burning play and heady thinking.

If any star of the game could be selected it was Dunlop of the Jacks, who usually on the guard line was shunted to a forward position for part of the night and really went to town in a big way. He was on in his shooting, and when he got hold of the apple and started in to score, he really went to town, on two occasions he scored six points in a matter of seconds, and not only revived the interest of his fellow team mates but brought the fans up off their seats.

It was a hard game on spectators. The pulse was up and down in a rapid series of changes as the score surged from one team to the other. Magrath had a big crowd of fans and they were on their feet, then the Raymond fans were on their feet. Many voices were lost on account of shouting, and many of those who made the least noise went through the greatest mental strain as the minutes wore on. The last two overtime periods seemed like an hour instead of five minutes.

The only casualty of the game was when Fred Turner fell over a couple of the Magrath boys and hurt his wrist. After a few minutes of first aid he was back again to captain the team and direct the play.

Wally Stipe and "Click" McIntosh had the whistles and handled the game fine. The boys were out to play ball and there were no arguments nor dissensions at all.

home and home-coming. Following is the lineup and score:

MAGRATH: Hamilton, 6; B. Sabey, 11; Bourne, 12; Toomer, 5; D. Sabey, 5; Leishman, 3; Bridge, Sabey. Total 42.

RAYMOND: Nalder, 3; Walder, 2; Evans, 9; Turner, 9; Nilsson, 8; Dunkin, 23; Meeks; Nalder. Total 45.

Doral Stone of the R.C.A.F. and stationed in Regina, was home on weekend leave and returned Monday morning.

Miss Dorothy Nurse, teacher at the Henderson Business College in Calgary, spent the week end in Raymond and attended the funeral services of her brother-in-law Ammon Anderson. She returned the first of the week.

IT DON'T ADD UP

We have a little trouble at times trying to see through some of the rulings of the various Boards at Ottawa. They seem to be confusing and sometimes rather of the beam.

For instance, We talked with a farmer this week who has been raising hogs for at least twenty five years, and he told us he was getting out as fast as possible. We asked why, and he said I can't feed $1.00 wheat to hogs. Despite the bonus for hogs marketed, he still couldn't make a profit feeding them No. 1 wheat. He could feed at a profit if he left his own wheat in the bin and went out and bought No. 4 and got the benefit of the 25c. reduction to feeders, but where would he get the No. 4, and why couldn't he get the 25c reduction on his own No. 1 that was fed?

They want more eggs. Fine too. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in coops and equipment and hatcheries are flooded with orders for baby chicks. Then wheat soars to over $1.00 per bushel, eggs drop to 29 or 30c. for a large, which means an average of about 23 or 24 cents, and the result, people can't feed $1.00 wheat to chickens with eggs at 23c. and make out. People will quit raising chickens and we will have no eggs.

We have no quarrel with the Government, but we can hardly see the philosophy of encouraging production, and then passing orders and regulations and so on that make it impossible for the producers to co-operate with them. We know of another feeder with a lot of hogs, who is feeding No 1 wheat to his hogs, because he can't sell it due to the quota. Why couldn't he get 25c. a bushel subsidy on the No 1 he fed to his hogs, so that he could stay in the business? We don't claim to have the answer to these riddles, but it looks like every inducement should be given to the primary producer in all these fields to continue to produce and not be discouraged by legislation that favors some and mitigates against others?

NEWS NOTES

John Kormos, whose death occurred here last Thursday was buried from the Hungarian Hall on Tuesday afternoon after services there and was laid to rest in the local cemetery. Christensen Bros. had charge of funeral arrangements.

The Heber F. Allen family supplied the program in the 1st Ward Sunday evening and a very interesting and entertaining program was given, including some history of the family, musical numbers and gospel talks.

At Rotary on Monday the Community Service committee presented a suggested work pile program, and C. R. Wing and Lee Brewerton spoke to the topic. They cited the work of other clubs and what Raymond and district might do. Another program on this important subject will be given in the near future.

Blitz Cat Deserts Sea for Sleuth

"Blitz" has had a remarkable career which commenced in her kittenish, Old Country days. For some unknown reason the dock-bred cats of Liverpool used to run for the ships when bombs started falling. "Blitz" joined the mad, furry scramble one night, but didn't quite make it, — a flying piece of shrapnel struck her and next morning seamen found her lying on the wharf. They took her to the ship's doctor who extracted the shrapnel and stitched the wound. The crew adopted the cat and she accompanied them on a voyage to Canada where she promptly deserted. She later turned up in the C.P.R.'s maritime dock police office where Sergeant Bailey found her comfortably asleep in his chair.

Her sea-faring days over, "Blitz" is now doing her share of police work, for according to Sgt. Bailey, the cat guards his tobacco pouch and other belongings when he is out of the office and won't let anyone touch them. The two have become such fast friends that whenever the Sergeant travels between maritime ports and Montreal he takes "Blitz" along in a specially-built crate.

Sgt. Bailey has been with the Canadian Pacific since 1914 when he commenced service as a constable, earning his promotion to sergeant in 1917.

BARNYARD MANURE AS A FERTILIZER

Experiments conducted on the Dominion experimental stations in Saskatchewan indicate that barnyard manure will materially increase the yield of grains and grasses. Inorganic fertilizers such as ammonium phosphate also increase the yield but these do not add much needed organic matter to the soil. Organic matter binds sandy soils together and loosens clay soils. It materially increases the water holding and absorbing capacity of soils. A large percentage of North Eastern Saskatchewan soils were unduly low in this soil constituent when first brought under cultivation and the growing of cash crops along with the practice of summerfallowing decreased it still further. It is evident that everything possible must be done to increase the fibre in poorer soils and maintain it in those that are better. The importance of manure as a source of organic matter can be emphasized by quoting authorities in the United States who have estimated that the manure produced annually in the United States contains double the organic matter destroyed each year by growing the grain and cotton crops.

Manure absorbs considerable of the soil moisture when it is plowed under and available moisture is largely the limiting factor in crop yields. In view of this it is evident that best results will generally be obtained before the field is to be summer-fallowed. By so doing, it will be incorporated in the soil during the summerfallow season when moisture reserves are being built up.

When there is a limited supply of manure, it can be used to best advantage on hay or pasture land, because it can be hauled direct from the barn and spread with practically no more work than is entailed in piling it. When spread on grass land, the weed seeds will germinate but the young plants will be smothered by the grass provided it is not over-grazed.

Wayne McMullin of the U.S. Navy, has been visiting his parents here for a week or so and returned to his duties on Tuesday of this week.

We had a very cold week-end again. Saturday the Chinook worked for awhile and softened the top of the ground, and that night it froze hard. Sunday the north wind was blowing with snow, increasing in speed as darkness came, and that night it went down to about ten below and stayed there most of the day Monday. Tuesday was much warmer with the snow melting all afternoon.

SEED CLEANING

In cleaning seed grain, the number of weed seeds coming out under the fanning mill is of little importance compared with the weed seeds that are left in the finished product, says L. B. Goodall, Dominion Seed Branch.

There would appear to be little excuse for small weed seeds being left in seed of the cereal grains after they have been cleaned, but seed drill surveys conducted in this and other provinces have shown that astounding numbers of small weed seeds are being sown annually with cereal grains. Because of the apparent ease with which such seed cleaning should be accomplished many operators of fanning mills fail to check properly the results they are getting.

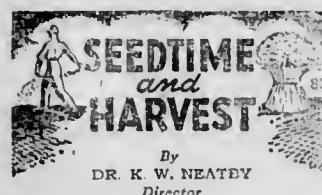

The small weed seeds in cereals have a habit of settling down out of sight, and seed that may appear to be perfectly clean when viewed in bulk may yet contain an astonishing number of small weed seeds. A check on the results being obtained should be made periodically by spreading out a sample of the cleaned seed on a sheet of paper, or other flat light coloured surface, and sorting it over carefully. Care must be exercised to see that the seed is spread thinly enough so that all impurities may be observed.

Fungicides on the Farm
 Fungicides for the control of plant diseases and for general disinfection are used on all farms. Some of the best fungicides are the most poisonous and troublesome to handle. A careless person might have difficulty in using either lead dusts or formalin.

Mercury fungicides such as can, ketyosan, and lunasan, are used for treating grain, and are fungicides and should not be handled as readily as lead dust. Avoid inhaling the dust; wear in a well ventilated building or outside, and wear a mask. If masks are not available, tie a clean handkerchief over the nose and mouth. Suitable masks are not expensive. After handling poisonous dusts or solutions, wash up thoroughly, especially before eating. Avoid an excess of fungicide on the hands, face or clothing. Left-over dusted grain should not be fed to livestock; it may be sown for green feed.

Formalin, an irritating and deadly poison, has been used for years by most farmers without serious trouble. They know it and handle it with the care and caution it deserves. It is a good fungicide and general disinfectant. Formalin treated grain may be fed to livestock after thorough airing. Farmers have used blue stone and lysol as general disinfectants without serious trouble, although they are poisonous. Sulphur is a good common fungicide. It is nonpoisonous except when burned for fumigation purposes; then the fumes are both irritating and toxic.

Before using any fungicide, read carefully the directions printed on the container. Note the warning cross bones and skull, if any, and read the "antidote." If an accident occurs, call a doctor without delay.

Keep all poisonous material out of reach of children. Fungicides, insecticides, roach and rat poisons should be kept in a box or cabinet under lock and key. Clean up and put away all empty cans for fungicide, insecticide, or roach poisons.

Always use the best fungicide. The best rule is to use a master that is the best and apply common sense. Do not be careless. Contributed by Dr. P. M. Simmonds and Dr. L. W. Mead, Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Saskatoon.

Yes, babies have felt the impact of war just like the rest of us. Their big trouble has been the shortage of baby products. But our looms were busy making hundreds of vital military items. But we're beginning to switch gradually back to some civilian production, and diaper cloth is high on our list of urgently needed goods.

No, the stores will not be bulging with diapers next week—that won't happen till the war's all over. And you have to remember that as we produce more there will likely be a let-up in imports.

The general supply picture will only change slightly. But more of these long-time favorite Canadian-made goods will be available.

Elders Howard and Gerald Melchin were the speakers at the 2nd Ward Sacrament meeting last Sunday evening. Gerald is reporting soon for military service and has already returned to Winnipeg. The boys gave very interesting talks but the attendance was rather small due to the cold, stormy night.

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. Alice Mitchell is at work again in Brewerton's Store following her recent operation.

Phil Helgeson and Chris Tolstrup were busy this week building a new grain box for Phil's truck. He said the old one was loose and shaky and a little small.

Chas. W. Brewerton is keeping about the same and enjoying himself fairly well. His condition keeps him in his room all the time during the cold weather.

Bryan Bennett, Air Gunner and Wireless Operator, whose graduation took place at the Calgary Wireless School last week, was home for a short leave over the week-end.

Harold Card of the Royal Canadian Navy is home on furlough until April 10th. He is stationed at Prince Rupert, B. C., and has spent 54 days in hospital as a result of dislocating his shoulder. He looks good after his stay in hospital and says the boys are all treated very well indeed.
